The Washabaugh Reunion.

Amidst the many happy things

Redford has no prouder boast than the place she keeps in the hearts and lives of her children who have gone from her and made homes for themselves in the world of affairs. In looking over our old files we find no issue that does not record the home coming of some one, often in joy and some time to remain forever in the silent city upon the hill. It is rarely though we can chronicle so happy an event as the reunion of the Washabaugh family in the old Washabaugh mansion now occupied by Mrs. Annie Hartley, daughter of the house. From time to time, since Mai and Mrs. Washabaugh celebrated their golden wedding in 1876, these reunions of the family have occurred. For ten years the circle remained unbroken. Another reunion and the major and his wife passed beyond, but the strong bond of family love that has been one of the charse teristics of the family has frequently brought the six sisters and two brothers together. A little over a year ago the youngest of the family, Judge Frank Washabaugh, of Deadwood, S Frank Washabaugh, of Deadwood, S children, Misses May and Allie Gib.
D., was called hither and was laid because and Mr Tom Gilchrist, of Cumside his parents in the Bodford ceme-berland, spent Saturday with friends tery. This was the first break in the circle of children since the brother William, rendered up his life in th attack on Ft. Wagner. Last week the family was again called in reunion to celebrate the birthday of the remaining brother, Col. Perry Washabaugh of Chester, which occurred on July There were present Mrs. William Wentz, of Baltimore; Mrs. Annie Hartley, widow of Judge J. G. Hartley; Mrs. Virginia Shannon, of Sioux City, Ia., whose husband was the late O. E. Shannon so prominently and favorably known in the early history of Bedford; Mrs. George Crane, of Columbia; Mrs Laura Douglas, of Montana; Mrs. Will iam P. Barndollar, of Everett, and Col. Washabaugh, in whose honor the reunion was held. Mrs. Evans, nee for a month's sojourn. Mr. Hender Sallia Shannon. of Portland. Ore, a son accompanied his wife and children niece, also was present.

One of the results of the investigation is the discovery that the four states of Ohio, Indiana, Ellinois and Iows have been especially favored in the distribution of rural mail routes. As three of these are pivotal states in national elections, the reason of this favoritism is perfectly obvious. If Mr. Payne is really ill, he cannot be blamed for it. A national scandal of this kind is enough to make anybody "sick." In its purely moral aspect, it bears a strikingly close resemblance to the Panama affair in France, which, in its course, besmirched the reputations of almost every leading politician. The postoffice department has become absolutely rotten. Every branch of the service needs reform and lots of it. It is the president's duty to leave nothing undone to bring every culprit to justice. The scandal is no longer a matter of lurking suspicion. It has advanced into the indestructible realm of facts. What Is Known About Fish. Pliny, the great naturalist, who lived at about the time of Christ, reckoned the whole-number of known species of fish at ninety-four. Linneus, the great Swedish investigator of the eighteenth century, could classify 478, and he is to have been the greatest ichthyologist of the age in which he lived The progress made in that particular branch since the time of Linnaus seems all the more wonderful, for now 13,000 species show up in the cata logues of the fish specialists.

MASTERS OF MUSIC.

The Great Composers and Their Peculian Methods of Work.

All the great musical composers had their own peculiar ideas and manner of working. They had their peculiar traits, their moods, their eccentric habits, such as are generally said to mar the genius. In "Musical Education" M Lavignac tells of their peculiarities. "Hayde was a very early riser," he writes, "and yet be never worked except in full dress, in which he was like Buffon. He began by shaving himself carefully, powdered himself and put on his finger a certain ring, sapphire, I believe, surrounded with brilliants, which had been given him

"Mozart, the gentle and plous Mo-zart, was sometimes less particular and composed a little everywhere and under all conditions. Happily the ideas came often enough and pursued him even into the restaurants of Vienna, Prague and Munich, where he was very fond of playing billiards and smoking a pipe and composing in his

"Rossini composed almost constantly and in all ways, rarely at the piano, most often in the evening or at night, and, like Mozart, often found inspiration in a carriage or post chalse. In the irregular joltings of these vehicles he perceived rhythm, and of these rhythms melodies were born. There is no doubt that he would have found them in the trepidation of the railroad If he had dared to try, but he had suc a dread of this mode of locomotion that no one was ever able to induce him to

"Gluck composed violently gesticulating, walking up and down and acting all his characters, often in the oper air, on the lawn, in a garden. "Beethoven also undoubtedly found a powerful auxillary to inspiration in motion and walking. Whatever the season, every day after dinner, which was at 1 o'clock, according to the Viennese custom, he set out for a walk, and with big strides twice made tho circuit of the city of Vienna. Neither cold nor heat nor rain nor hail was able to stop him. Then it was that his heat would enter a restaurant, sit down for an instant and ask the stupefied waiter for the bill, without baving ordered anything. His clumsiness was proligious. He usually broke everything touched. Not a single piece of furniture in his house, and any article of value less than anything else, was safe from his attacks, and many times his ink pot fell into the piano by which he was working, which, religiously preserved in the museum at Bonn, still retains its indelible traces. Although

ing in time. "Herold composed while walking, humming or singing, often in the Champs Elysees, and often passed his best friends by without recognizing

"Gounod composed especially at the table, or at least in his head. When he wrote, everything was absolutely clear

"Wagner liked to write standing up before a large table desk like the cash desks in the shops. His acores were written without erasures, in a superb calligraphic hand, admirable for its clearness and firmness and worthy of a professional copyist.
"Berlioz, who played no instruments

but the guitar, flute and flageolet, nec essarily worked at the table. "Franck, who was the head of school, scarcely composed at all till after 9 o'clock in the evening. "Meyerbeer wrote in a regular man ner in the evening, and his servent had company, having been called to the orders to drag him away from the plane at the stroke of midnight. Schuarrival that they were considerably mann would not admit that any one could write otherwise than at a table. Mendelssohn made much use of the piano and preferred to work in the morning. Auher generally worked at night and very late, till 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, in order to avoid outside noises.

"Haleyy had a tal been made for him by Pleyel. time to time he would draw out his key board, strike a few chords on it, and deed-so good, in fact, that there is no then push it back like a simple drawer and continue to write.

"Boieldieu also wrote at the piano Felicien David, not being much of a planist, sometimes sought the aid of his violin. Adolphe Adam almost always worked at his grand plane, the right hand side of whose keyboard was stained with innumerable splashes eye, and this is what M. Delage has of ink. He played eight, ten or twelve bars, and then wrote them down. Bizet vorked especially in the evening and still more at night; he often made use of a plane bureau by Pleyel, like Gounod and Halevy."

gentleman (a doctor, if we are not mistaken), after a fatiguing day, was cheered by the sight of a beefsteak for his dinner, as he very well might, but seemingly the steak made a deep im pression on his mind or his digestion for while he was drowsing with his eyes closed after eating it, he saw it again as vividly as before, and on dropping asleep he saw it a third time in his dream. It was doubtless a sub-

"hypnogogic images." One is that they are formed on the retina of the eye and confined to it. Another is that they are purely mental and formed In the cortex or bark, so to speak, of the cerebrum. As often happens, the truth appears to lie in a combination both views. Recent observations of M. Yves Delage have put the question to experimental proof. When we look at a bright body-for example, the sun -and shut our eyes we see a colored spot of light, and if we move the eye up or down, to right or left, the spot moves with It. The spot, in fact, is

An organized attack was lately made on the liberty of the press in the state of Pennsylvania in the shape of hostile legislation. I refer to the infamous Grady-Balus libel law, best known as the "pressmuzzler." The signing of the bill by the governor was the signal for such a storm of Indignation, derision and execuation on the part of the newspaper press, not only of Waterford, Canandaigua, Wilkesbarre, this state, but also of nearly every other Tomnicken, Mt. Carmel, Lykens and the politicians who were thus striking at a Gretna and return at reduced rates. sacred right guaranteed by the State Constitution, as nothing else could have caused. And good cause there was for the pewspaper men to be aroused, not so much on their own account, as on account of the liberties of the people. Nobody knows it better than the newspaper men that it is impossible for the people of any

Well, by the act of the governor, in ap proving it, the bill is now a part of the statute law of the state, and all good citizens will gracefully submit to it until such time as it shall be tested in the courts, as to whether it contravenas any constitutional provision or not. In the a free press can beinvaded, what is to pre speech? And if the rights of a free press Summerton, S. C. A report reached Bedford Saturday ave ning that the hardest rain had fallen in this community and that all bridges and culverts hal been washed away between this place and Cessna and other great dam age done. This report marred the pleasare of quite a number of the people who left for home before night. The report was one day ahend of time. True, there was a very hard shower, but it was of very short duration, and but little or no damage was done. The big rain came between four and five o'clock Sunday evening and the waters were higher than ever known before, causing great destruction of fences, corn and grain in the bottoms. In some corn fields the soil was even washed away. Three bridges and several culverts were taken away in this community and other places in the way of the storm suffered accordingly. Rods of fances were washed away and large posts were lifted out of the ground. A spring wagon belonging to John Fitzimons, of Schellsburg, was carried down the stream and now lies turned

STATE OF THE STATE

ALL EYES THIS WAY

Saturday morning, July 4th, we inaugurated the Greatest Sale that has ever been known in this part of the State. It 🕏 will be a sale that will break all records for values—a sale that must interest every man and woman. We do this at a 🗟 § time of the year when it will do you the most good and save you the greatest amount of money. Months ago we prepared § 🗟 our stock for spring and summer and purchased larger quantities than ever before in the history of our business. The season has been against us, the rainy spell made business slow, but we never carry stock from one season to another; no matter what the sacrifice may be, we are determined to clean them out and in order to do it this season we must do it now; hence your opportunity while the Summer is yet in its infancy. We have named prices that in many cases do not even represent the cost of the goods at whole-🕏 sale, for our regular prices are always exceedingly low. We 🗟 want you to read the following list of prices. But prices alone mean nothing. Come in and see the goods, bring this list with you and decide for yourself just what you want and what an exceptional line of Bargains we are now offering.

Your Dollar will have a Greater Purchasing Power than ever before.

Men's and Boys' Hats reduced in price 25 per cent, on the Ladies' Skirts, Shirt Waists and Summer Jackets are reduced 33 per cent, on the dollar—that means one-third off the regular price.

In a sale like this the best will always be chosen first, so don't delay. Lots of other bargains that can't be mentioned here. So come and get what you want. Everything sold just as advertised. Your money back if you are not satisfied with your purchase.
